

SOCIAL EVENTS

FROM THE SOCIETY EDITOR'S VIEWPOINT.

Many Rock Island people must have read in the Sunday Tribune the story of Chicago society folk as told by a society reporter of that city under the caption of "Names of Your Box Party, Please," and it was read with interest by Rock Island society reporters with a genuine sympathy for the writer. The society editor of an exchange comments on it in a way that hits the nail on the head, and while Rock Island isn't Chicago, as she says, society is society, women are women, men are men, and reporters are reporters. Among other things which are most apropos she comments:

"Whether the woman who is making her living writing of 'who's who and what's what' and what they are doing, is rightfully regarded by Mrs. Money as the scum of the earth and an inquisitive 'snoop' and purveyor of tattling, or whether she has an inalienable right to the deference due her as the lady she must be to hold her position on any well-regulated newspaper's staff, and the courtesy and respect due the normal intelligence she must possess to fill her office, is not the question, either. 'The colonel's lady and Judy O'Grady are sisters under the skin,' but whether the colonel's mate has taken advantage of the opportunities that Mrs. O'Grady probably has not had and to the instinctive courtesy to which the former has probably been born, may readily be determined in her manner towards newspaper women. And the real question becomes whether Mrs. Money is a lady or not and belongs in the columns reserved for the representative people's doings."

"If it weren't that the gracious, courteous women in society are in the great majority and have the upper hand of the—well, the other kind—society scribes would long ago have put aside the typewriter in disgust with themselves, their jobs and womanhood in general; for that's what the most patient of them feels once in a while like doing when her good morning welcome comes over the phone as a 'what-did-you-use-my-party-for?' don't-you-know-that-you-have-made-things-most-embarrassing-for-me-when-I-had-only-a-few-to-dinner-and-am-indebted-to-everybody-in-town—I-wish-you'd-call-me-when-you-want-to-write-something-about-me—more dashes and smashes and dashes and a bang of the receiver."

"Some women have proved that they can be polite about such things even if their temper is, perhaps justifiably, a bit ruffled. Some of them are intelligent enough to understand that everybody has 'em—these little 'few friends' dinner parties, and to know that if they weren't included in this particular party they may be included in the next one. Some of them aren't. Some of them know that Mrs. So-and-So's dinner party is the least important of a stack of news notes that come into the office daily and that when the source of the information about the affair is unquestioned, valuable time is thought better spent than in 'asking my permission.' If the facts are authoritative, the item is social news and that's a good paper's stock in trade and an interested reader's reward."

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS

MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) A girl friend of mine has been going with a young man for some time. A crowd of us has always been together on Sunday nights. He has asked me for several dates and I have accepted them, and now he is trying to go with both of us. He has been with me several Sundays, but now he is going with my girl friend Sundays. He still asks me for dates during the week. Do you think I should go with him in the week if he doesn't ask me for dates on Sundays?

(2) My girl friend asks him for the dates, and he accepts. I will not ask a boy for a date, but since this is leap year what shall I do? He keeps telling me that he is trying to quit this other girl, but it has been some time now and he hasn't done so.

(3) Please advise me what to do. Do you think there is any way I can win him? If so, please advise me. This girl does all she can now to split up the bunch. Now I have nothing to do with her. She lives a few miles from me, but is continually coming to town to see this young man. Please consider this and explain to me what I shall do.

(1) From your letter I judge that you are not very old. Why not look upon the boy simply as a friend? If he is a friend and nothing more there is no reason why you should object to his going with another girl, too. But if you consider him a "sweetheart," of course you would not care to play second fiddle to another girl, as you would do if you permitted him to call on you on off nights and showed preference to your friend.

(2) A girl should do in leap year just what she would do at any other time. She should never ask a boy for a date.

(3) You cannot possibly win him by showing that you are jealous and trying to get him away from the other girl. Be indifferent to what he does and don't even mention the other girl. If she does all the things you think she does he will soon tire of her and may go back to you. Don't say mean things about your girl friend to other people. What you say will probably get back to him and if it is unpleasant will only make him more in sympathy with your friend and less kindly disposed toward you. Be generous and don't let petty jealousies come between you and your girl friend.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young man aged 22. I had a young lady friend whom I enjoyed very much. I was invited to her house and treated finely by the whole family. One night I called and at the end of a very pleasant evening was told by the young lady that her father had said I must not call again. I asked how I had offended him, and she said I was in no way to blame, but refused to give me the reason. She cried and said some day she would be able to do as she pleased, but now she said she must obey her father, outwardly at least. This happened over two years ago. Since then we have written occasionally and sometimes met. She seems just the same. I feel that this state of affairs has existed long enough. She is now 21. I would like to marry the girl, but dislike the attitude of her parents. What would you advise?

I think you are too young to consider marriage. A man's tastes are very different when he is 25 than they were in his early 20's. The opposition of the girl's parents without a doubt strengthens your love for the girl. Go to the father and learn why he will not let you call on his daughter. You and he may come to an understanding that will straighten things out and make conditions as you would like to have them. When you feel ready to marry, if the father still objects to you, ask the girl to disregard his wishes and marry you in spite of opposition.

The curious sight of great fields of fine cabbage heads, frozen stiff and ruined, greets the traveler through upper New York state's cabbage country around Genesee, the reason being that fall prices were less than the fertilizing value of leaving the vegetables upon the soil.

HAVE COLOR IN YOUR CHEEKS

Be Better Looking—Take Olive Tablets

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for cod-liver oil—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study with his patients.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color.

If you want a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days, you must get at the cause.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like cod-liver oil—yet have no dangerous after effects.

They start the bile and overcome constipation. That's why millions of boxes are sold annually at 10c and 25c per box.

Take one or two nightly and note the pleasing results.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

THINGS WORTH KNOWING.
Home Greenery—When you buy dried peas for table try planting a few in a pot. You will be surprised how quickly they grow and what a pretty plant you can have in the house these cold days, for a few pennies.

When Hanging Out Clothes—You always experience great discomfort hanging clothes out of doors in cold weather. Fill a hot water bottle about two-thirds full of water as hot as you dare put into it, cork it tightly and drop it into your clothespin apron. Every time your hands become a little cold reach into the clothespin apron and hold them on the hot bag for a few seconds. When they are comfortable again proceed with your work. It doesn't take nearly so long as one might imagine and the entire wash is hung on the line in comfort. During the coldest weather wash all your clothes before hanging out, thus lessening the danger of taking cold by going from steamy washroom into the cold air.

When Buying New Underwear begin by sewing on bands or bindings on machine (they most always rip if you don't); then sew on all buttons securely and fasten buttonhole ends. Have ready a boiler of nice hot suds, in which work the new underwear. Rinse well and hang to dry. They are more sanitary, besides being easier washed, as the new fabric seems harder to get clean if used before washing.

Children Love sugared doughnuts and it takes only a brief bit of time to sugar them. Put a small amount of confectioner's sugar in a paper bag, then drop in four or five warm doughnuts and, closing top of bag, give them a good shaking. They come out evenly coated and are always welcome.

On Dark Days, when one has trouble threading a sewing machine, take a small, ordinary sewing needle and thread it. You can thread the machine in all parts till you get to the needle, and that can be plainly seen by placing something white back of it.

SIMPLE HOME REMEDIES.

For Bronchitis, Colds, Sore Throat (external use only)—Mix one and one-half cups lard with one ounce camphor gum; add (one tablespoon) laudanum, one tablespoon soda, one tablespoon quinine, one tablespoon coal oil, one teaspoon carbolic acid. Put over slow fire in a granite kettle and let come to a boil. Beat it while cooling. Use to grease the chest and back between the shoulders. Cover over, in severe cases, with a flannel.

When Baby Has Colic, try giving him five drops of essence of anise in three tablespoons warm water and one-fourth to one-half teaspoon sugar. It is mild and pleasant and will relieve pain without any bad after result.

In Cases of illness where patients are too weak to rise up to take a drink, try using clean wheat or rye straws
